

LARGE NUMBER ALUMNAE ATTEND HOMECOMING CELEBRATION

Dr. Duke and Alumnae Visitors
Address Saturday
Session

ALUMNAE BANQUET
IS WELL-ATTENDED

Mrs. Mottley of Roanoke and Miss Armentrout of U. Va.
Are Speakers

"The alumna of an institution are the acid test of its worth," declared Dr. Samuel P. Duke, president of the Harrisonburg State Teachers College at the annual home-coming program of the H. T. C. alumnae in Wilson auditorium, Saturday morning, March 24. The other speakers of the morning included Mrs. Tita Bland Mottley, Roanoke, 1920 alumna, and Miss Mary Armentrout, University of Virginia, 1928 alumna.

Dr. Duke traced the development of the college, noting especially the more recent changes in faculty requirements, curriculum and plant. Pointing out the generally increased interest in education, he commended Virginia's legislative body in the following words: "I don't know when we have had such a capable and wide-awake body educationally. I think we have a governor in Richmond who is behind education. It is the first time in the history of Virginia that a governor has addressed both bodies of the General Assembly meeting together on the sole topic of education."

Using "New Girls for Harrisonburg" as her topic, Mrs. Mottley listed ways in which high school graduates could be attracted to H. T. C. Besides radio talks, glee club trips, summer campaigns, and better state-wide organization of alumnae, she advocated a talking picture of Harrisonburg campus life as a novel means of advertising.

Miss Armentrout, who is doing graduate work in the field of history at the University of Virginia, discussed Harrisonburg's place in perpetuating the ideals and traditions of the South.

Additional Curricula Announced In Catalog

New Department Created for Pre-nursing

ALUMNAE RETURN
FOR HOME COMING

To meet the growing need for expanding the curriculum, the new Harrisonburg Teachers College catalog announces additional courses in home economics, as well as a new department offering a pre-nursing curriculum beginning with the 1934-35 academic year.

The first year's work in the pre-nursing course is without election. The second year is planned under the direction and recommendation of the director of the hospital which the student expects to enter.

Home economics majors have the choice of four groups of electives in addition to the required course of the basic home economics curricula. Choice may be made between a home economics education major for teachers under the Smith-Hughes Act, foods and nutrition majors for dietetics, institutional management major and a general home economics major for a general knowledge of home economics for home-making. ## Final Game Totals 7th Straight Victory For Basketball Team

Team Wins From New College With Score of 54-17

PITTMAN SCORES HALF
OF SEASON'S GOALS

Under the leadership of Emily Pittman, dependable captain and forward, the Harrisonburg basketball team closed an all-victorious season by easily downing New College, of Columbia University, New York City, 54 to 17 on the home court March 17.

With this game the varsity totaled its seventh straight victory, having defeated Shepherds College, Shepherds-town, W. Va., 62-12; East Stroudsburg, Teachers College, of Pennsylvania, 35-30; Westhampton College, Richmond, 33-30; The Savage School of Physical Education, New York City, 32-23; New College, 51-17 (there) and 54-17 (here); and Blackstone College, Blackstone, 33-19. The Harrisonburg girls scored a total of 300 points to 128 scored by their opponents.

Of the Harrisonburg points, one-half, that is, 150, were made by Emily

Construction Started on Senior Dormitory

Building to Accommodate 114 Students

Excavations for the senior dormitory to be erected on the southwest corner of campus have been started. John C. Senter, engineer, of Roanoke, has contracted to have the building completed by January 1, 1935.

A tentative sketch of the building, drawn by the college architect, J. Buford Walford, of Richmond, is posted on the lower floor in Wilson Hall. The new dormitory will be constructed of blue limestone and is modeled on the general plan of Wilson Hall.

Erection of this building is made possible by a loan of $140,000 from the Public Works Administration.

The building as planned will have three stories: the first floor will have five parlors, kitchenettes, and a pressing room. Suites consisting of two two-girl rooms with connecting baths will take up the second and third floors. Accommodations for 114 students are planned.

F. E. R. A. FUNDS HELP STUDENTS PAY FEES

To enable prospective teachers to continue their college preparation is the object of the sixty-four scholarships that recently have been granted by the Federal Emergency Relief Administration to students attending H. T. C.

Fifty-three of the scholarships were awarded to old students who began work March 1, while the remaining eleven went to new students who registered at the beginning of the spring quarter. These new students who received scholarships are: Neva Alexander, Lurline Barksdale, Adelia Clark, Hope Fulcher, Porter Harris, Mary Lasley, Rachel Nelson, Joanna Savedge, Reda Taylor, Frances Wilson, and Lucy Swartzel.

The F. E. R. A. scholarships expire at the end of the spring quarter in June, 1934.

Virginia Teacher Carries Article By J. H. Saunders

Newport News Superintendent
Is For Consolidation of Counties

ARTICLES BY SMITHEY
AND HANSON APPEAR

"If a district is small enough to be supervised by one school superintendent, it is likewise small enough to have only one treasurer, one sheriff, one clerk. Consolidation of counties into one school unit is neither wise nor economical unless the district is united into a single taxing unit." So writes Joseph H. Saunders, superintendent of schools in Newport News, in an article "The Logic of Consolidation" appearing in the March issue of The Virginia Teacher.

Education is only one of the many subjects, discussed in the new issue. Mr. Raus M. Hanson's novel chapel talk on "Weather Lore" is printed, giving superstitions concerning ground-hog day, St. Swithin's Day, Easter, rainbows, rings around the moon, the "dry" moon, the sun drawing water, and their accuracy.

Mr. Hanson concludes his discussion: "A systematic check up can be made regarding the amount of truth contained in any weather proverb. Scattered over the U. S. are hundreds of weather stations which keep complete records. Whether it is Ground Hog Day, a rainy Easter, or a "dry" moon, a study can be made by which it will be found that the percentage of errors discourages placing confidence in the reliability of the majority of such material. What, then, should be advised regarding all weather lore? Just this: Remember every word of it, so there will always be a convenient topic of conversation."

An article The Finishing Function of the Public Secondary School, by Professor W. R. Smithey is also contained in the March issue. Dr. Smithey outlines two types of training in the high school of today, which he says must recognize the finishing function as well as the fitting function.

DISRAELI PRESENTED IN WILSON AUDITORIUM

Starring George Arliss, Florence Arliss, Joan Bennett, and David Lawrence, Disraeli was presented in Wilson Hall, Saturday afternoon.

Particularly interesting to students of history was this picture, showing Disraeli's struggle to realize his dream of making England a world power in spite of the lack of support given him by parliament.

However, the picture was not lacking in interest for others, for the romantic element was supplied by the love affair of Joan Bennett and Anthony Bushnell and also by George Arliss's devotion to his wife.

As a whole, the picture was quite outstanding among George Arliss pictures.

SPRING HOLIDAYS

Easter holidays will begin at 12:00 noon Friday, March 30, and will end 10:00 p. m. Wednesday, April 4.

Special buses will leave at 12:00 for Washington and Richmond, and at 1:00 p. m. for Roanoke.

No special trains are being run, but taxi accommodations may be secured to Staunton and Elkton by students wishing to meet trains there.

Symphony Orchestra
Appears In Concert
In Wilson Auditorium

Dr. Hans Kindler Conducts Orchestra in a Program of Lighter Compositions

TWENTY-FIVE PLAYERS
COMPOSE ORCHESTRA

Twenty-five members of the National Symphony Orchestra, with Dr. Hans Kindler conducting, presented a notable program of lighter compositions last Friday evening, March 23, in Wilson Hall. This concert was the second musical lyceum number presented during the year, the Russian Cossacks having appeared here December 2.

The audience recalled Dr. Kindler several times and were rewarded by encores of Praeludium (Jarnfeldt), Flight of the Bumble Bee, (Rimsky-Karsakov), and Andante (Mozart).

Dr. Kindler led the orchestra with vitality and assurance and conducted entirely without scores. The orchestra played with great technical skill but did not lose the warmth and sense of melody which made the concert delightful.

The program was adapted to the taste of the audience. It was performed with excellence from Bach's Suite in B Minor, through Mozart's Symphony Cassation, Wagner's Siegfried Idyll and a miscellany including Chant Russe (Moussorgsky), Praeludium (Jarnfeldt), Flight of the Bumble Bee (Rimsky-Karsakov) and Brahms' Hungarian Dances.

The complete orchestra is composed of eighty members and gives twenty-four concerts every winter in Washington and fills engagements outside the city.

Dr. Kindler, who was born in Holland, has been a citizen of the United States for twenty years. He began his musical career in America in the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra. He won a reputation for his skill with the cello. For eight years he traveled in the Orient; then, returning to this country, he began work as a conductor. His reputation grew and he started the National Symphony Orchestra.

H.T.C. Debaters Win From East Radford

Lemmon and Cox Uphold Affirmative

Winning a unanimous decision over the debaters from Radford State Teachers College, Virginia Cox and Sarah Lemmon upheld the affirmative side of the question: "Resolved, That the powers of the president of the United States should be substantially increased as a settled policy," Wednesday, March 14. Julia Cook and Lenora Griffiths led the negative attack for Radford.

In opening the case for the affirmative side Virginia Cox pointed out that the present powers of the President are insufficient politically and economically. Miss Lemmon concluded the affirmative argument by showing that increased presidential powers would promote the general welfare of the people of the United States.

Miss Cook and Miss Griffiths of Radford maintained that the present powers of the president are adequate to meet the needs of the country, basing their arguments upon the fact that all strong

New House Presidents Installed
By Student Body President
As Part of Ceremony

"I think we often overlook the opportunity participation in a real student government offers," said Henrietta Manson, newly-installed student government president, in chapel Wednesday. "We are constantly aware that its purpose is to regulate the conduct of all students of the college and to enforce rules which come within its jurisdiction, and fail to remember that its purpose is to preserve and promote student honor, to develop self-reliance and individual responsibility, and to give us a chance to prove that we have the courage of our convictions."

"We have government because it is necessary. We have student government on our campus because former student bodies have made it possible. It is our privilege and trust to maintain the standard they have set for us," continued Henrietta. "In doing this we must remember that democracy is something deeper than liberty—it is Responsibility."

The pledge of office was administered to Henrietta Manson, Lottsburg, new student government head, by Hilda Hisey, Edenburg, retiring president. Henrietta pledged the other officers, these being: Frances Jolly,

H. T. C. RATED HIGHLY

We are proud of the excellent rating our college receives from national, regional, and state educational agencies.

The State Teachers College at Harrisonburg is a fully accredited member of the American Association of Teachers Colleges. The college is a member of the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Southern States, the highest rating agency in the South. It is also rated by the State Department of Education as a standard teachers college.

Membership in the Southern Association means that the work of the college is given full recognition and credit at any university or college where graduates may go for advanced work.

While Harrisonburg is a professional school with the express purpose of training teachers, other related vocational courses prepare graduates for the duties of homemaking, and other occupations in the field of home economics. Preparatory courses in medicine, nursing, supervisory work, are offered.

HOMECOMING

One of the most pleasant events of the college year is the annual homecoming of the Harrisonburg alumnae. An Alumnae Association can be, and in the case of Harrisonburg, is one of the most potent factors in maintaining the present standing of the school, and we are always glad to welcome the old girls back to their Alma Mater. It is a novel experience for both old and new girls, as well as the faculty, in so far as old ties of friendship are renewed and new bonds are formed. We watch with interest the meeting of old friends reunited after several years at the institution which gave them preparation for their work and furnished them with perhaps the richest experiences of their lives.

The success of the Alumnae Association in the future will depend to a large extent on the present student body. We will soon be looking forward with great anticipation each year to the homecoming dates. We have witnessed this past week-end the effectiveness of the homecoming celebrations. Let us do our part to see that they are continued with co-operation from both old and new girls.

A new quarter is beginning. Spring has also just begun with its cases of spring fever, laziness, and a tendency to let things slip. We admit it is a trying season and a decisive factor in the scholastic standing of most students.

We should not let hard work scare us, but should stick to our post. We can never work too hard for something worth while.

CHAPEL

"We learn by doing," quoted Dr. Florence Stratemeyer, first vice-president of Kappa Delta Pi and Supervisor of Extension Training groups of Teachers College, Columbia University, in a brief address at assembly Monday.

"To give real rich experience to the children, the teacher herself must have a wealth of experience. She must help the children see things in relation and understand their sequence.

Dr. Stratemeyer with a group of New College students is on a trip to various teachers colleges along the Atlantic coast. They are observing supervisors and teaching under supervision.

Officers of the Y. W. C. A. for 1934-35 will be installed at a special candlelight service in Woodrow Wilson Hall tonight. Gladys Farrar, Rustburg, the retiring president, will light the candle of the new president, Mary Page Barnes, Amelia, who will speak briefly.

The retiring members of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet then will light the candles of their successors, Elizabeth Thweatt, Petersburg, vice-president; Frances Wells, Suffolk, secretary-treasurer; Nell Williams, Suffolk, assistant treasurer; Mildred Cross, Salem; reporter; and the following committee chairmen: Eleanor Whitman, Purcellville, and Helen Marston, Toano, program committee; Annie Cox, Baywood, social service; Dorothy Mairs, Baltimore, social work; Mary Vernon Montgomery, Baskerville, alumnae; Eleanor Biggs, Lynchburg, publicity; Frances Graybeal, Christiansburg, music; Charleva Crichton, Hampton, choir; Martha Ann Sheffler, Beckley, W. Va., Bible; and Lucy Warren Marston, Toano, room.

VARIOUS NEW COURSES OFFERED TO STUDENTS

Numerous courses are being offered to the students that have not been offered before this year. Among these are the following:

Religious Education—Dr. Wright 333
This course is designed to familiarize the students with the modern movements in religious education.
Biochemistry—Dr. Pickett 353

This course is a lecture, recitation, and laboratory course in chemical physiology intended to prepare for the course in dietetics.

Supervision of Instruction—Dr. Gifford 443

The student makes a study of the theory and practice of supervision.

Psychology of Learning—Miss Lanier 133

In this course a student is provided with principles and facts basic for the motivation and directing of learning.

Composition and Rhetoric—Dr. Huffman—365

Training in expository and descriptive writing.

Romantic Poets of the Nineteenth Century—Miss Boje 433

An extensive study of the poetry of Wordsworth, Scott, Coleridge, Byron, Shelley, and Keats.

TOM SAYS

Keep your shirt on; it won't be long now!

Book agent (to farmer): "You ought to buy an encyclopedia, now that your boy is going to school."

Farmer: "Not on your life. Let him walk, the same as I did."

"Father," said little Frank as he turned the pages of his history, "how did the cliff dwellers keep warm in the winter time?"

"Why, I guess they used the mountain ranges. Now don't ask any more foolish questions."

"What's come over you, Bill? You don't look so well-dressed as you used to."

"That's funny; I'm wearing the same clothes."

Salesman (at shirt counter): "Looking for something in a shirt, madam?"
Irate woman: "Yes! About 165 pounds, and he's kept me waiting here for nearly an hour."

"Just think, Aunt Josie, my husband got Hamburg and Java on the radio last night?"

"Now, my child, don't think I'll ever believe they can deliver groceries on that contraption."

A. H. Writes: "The mosquito is like a child; the moment he stops making a noise you know he is getting into something."

"Did you pick your teeth?"
"No; they came by themselves."

"Papa," said the small son, "what do they mean by college bred?"
"My son," said the father, "it is a four year's loaf."

Holland vice-president; Billy Millnes, Ripon, W. Va., secretary-treasurer; Alma Fultz, Butterworth, recorder of Points; and the new house presidents, Helen Marston, Toano, Johnston Hall; Virginia Hisey, Edenburg, Alumnae Hall, Madeline Blair, Chatham, Sheldon Hall; and Mildred Cross, Salem, Spottswald Hall.

Student government is found in the medieval schools, a typical example being found in the college of Bologna, France. Among the student regulations of this school is found the rule stating that an instructor must first gain the permission of his students to leave town and second must post a bond for his own safe return. Another law set up by the students organization declared that students were forbidden to throw stones in chapel. These were a few of the salient and unique rules Dr. L. Wilson Jarman, president of Mary Baldwin College, cited in his convocation address in chapel, Wednesday morning, March 28.

In conclusion Dr. Jarman said, "When all the story is told of college life, it will be found that supreme values are found not alone in knowledge gained, not alone in method and technique acquired, not yet alone in attitudes developed through contact with books and faculty, but also in the social contact of student in the give and take of every day living, in the development and exercise of splendid friendships, in the striving together for high attainment. Student government thus furnishes the aim, the motive, the method for college living and thus builds character and personality."

Dr. Jarman, was introduced by Dr. Samuel P. Duke, president of the college.

Hilda Hisey, retiring student government president has been chosen by the student body as its representative to the annual Apple Blossom Festival in Winchester. The Festival is planned for the first week in May.

Hampton Quartet Sings at School

Tour Is to Further Friendly Relations Between Races

The Hampton Institute quartet presented spirituals, work songs, and plantation melodies in Wilson Hall here last Wednesday evening after the formal dinner. The program which displayed the native melody, rhythm, and deep religious feeling characteristic of negro songs, was divided into three sections:

1. Get Ready, There's a Meeting Here Tonight, 'Most Done Travelin', I Want to Be Ready, Standin' in the Need of Prayer, I'll Be a Witness.

2. Water Boy, I Got a Robe, Ezekial Saw the Wheel, I'm Bound to Leave This World, 'Way Down Upon the Swannee River, Mighty Like a Rose.

3. Were You There When They Crucified My Lord?, Go Down, Moses, Swing Low, Sweet Chariot, and Steal Away.

The quartet was composed of W. E. Creekmur, first tenor; J. Thomas, second tenor; M. F. Bratcher, first bass; and J. H. Wainwright, second bass, who is beginning his forty-sixth year of singing for Hampton Institute.

George F. Ketcham is the manager of the quartet. L. R. Reynolds, of Richmond, director of the Virginia Interracial Commission, and John H. Sindal, assistant manager of the quartet, accompanied the colored singers on their tour.

The purpose of the tour, as outlined by Mr. Reynolds, is to further friendly relations between the white and colored races. The thirteenth and final appearance on this season's tour was made at Farmville State Teachers College on Friday night.

The group is internationally as well as nationally known. In the summer of 1930, they made a tour of Great Britain, singing in many schools and universities such as Eton, Charter House, Rugby, Oxford and Cambridge. They also sang in Canterbury and Westminster Cathedrals and at the birthplace of David Livingstone. They gave over seventy concerts while they were in Great Britain.

FINAL GAMES

Pittman, Gates, N. C., who was responsible for 67 field and 16 foul goals. Douglas MacDonald, Scott, N. C., a fast forward, ranked second with 29 goals from the floor and 9 foul goals. Ranging close with her is Virginia Barrow, Blackstone, who accounted for 31 two-pointers, and two free shots, and who also starred as a guard.

Virginia Grogan, Spence, and Laura Scheibler, New York City, as jumping centers; Julia Courter, Amelia, as side center, and Alma Fultz, Butterworth and Mary Van Landingham, Petersburg, showed their excellent team work.

The team has displayed steadiness, accuracy, and superior play, throughout the season.

In the game with New College two-court play in the first half lent interest and amusement to the game. Some brilliant passes were made by both teams, but the home team was never forced to display its real fighting strength.

CURRICULA

nomics education is student teaching a requirement for a degree.

Registration for the fall quarter will begin September 24. Christmas vacations will begin December 20 and end January 2, according to the academic calendar in the new catalog.

Other modifications in curricula have been made. Among these which are new to the regular session are: Art in the Home and the Literature of History offered the first quarter, Current Public Affairs and Modern Poetry in the second quarter.

POETRY

SUNSET

Large, splendid mountains of a gorgeous blue
Are alive with color;
Large masses of crimson,
And flecks of gold are seen hiding
Amidst large masses of clouds.
Then suddenly the scene changes:
All is purple and gold!

As each moment passes,
Large islands of night enfold us,
And erase the magnificent heart of flame

That comes to rest down deep
In the bosom of the mountains
Which guard them and their secrets.
Thus reigns mystery overhead!

—KITTY SMOOT.

SNOW

(In the Manner of Sandburg.)

The snow is white and flat.
Around the edges it is pushed up suddenly.

Sharp, hard ridges mark the place where

The man with the shovel has pushed it back

Saying "This is my part, that is your part, snow."

You stay on your part, white and flat. I will walk on the cement."

The snow takes all of its part, too. The snow is white and flat,

Clear to the edges.

—POLLY SCHULER.

A young tree stands,
Bleak and black,
Against a pale horizon.
Its leaves have fallen,
Torn by winter
And all its defects stand
Pronounced and clearly seen . . .
By whom? What traveler pauses
To look long upon a broken,
Bruised, misshapen tree?
No—wait till Spring shall come
And tender green of opening leaves
Shall cover up its blemishes.

In the calm of twilight
I see myself
Against a pale horizon.
Night and silence—
My winter—come
And rob me of
My covering
Till all my defects stand
Pronounced and clearly seen—
By whom?—I do not wish
To look upon my errors,
Faults, and failings.
No . . . wait till Spring—
Tomorrow—comes;
Smiling-hypocrisy shall
Hide away those blemishes.

—LOIS SLOOP.

BENEATH THE TREE

I have watched the shadow of this tree
Lengthen upon the grass
As the afternoon creeps on,
Oh, so slowly . . .
My days are like that shadow;
I watch them lengthening out
Indifferently.

Day by day
I have watched these leaves turn green,
Growing, week by week,
Toward maturity.
I shall watch them
As summer drags into fall,
See them slowly turn to yellow,
Then to brown,
See them loosen one by one,
Drift groundward
To be carried away
By the heedless wind.
I shall stand here
When winter comes,
Look up at the bare, dark branches,
Gaze through their delicate network
At the gray sweep of the sky.
I shall stop here
When the first green bud appears
Next spring,
And I shall laugh then,
Wild laughter,
At the long slow process
That begins again.
I shall stand beneath these boughs
And shake with laughter
Because I am the only dead, unfruitful thing,
And because my heart has broken
With that first green bud.

—WINIFRED WARREN

Renovations on Campus

In preparation for the annual homecoming, renovations were made in Alumnae Hall and in the radio room located in the basement of Harrison Hall.

In Alumnae Hall, new lamps, screens, draperies, and furniture have been added, while the radio room boasts new Craft House furniture, tapestries, lamps, cream-colored curtains, and shelves.

"What should I take when I am run down, doctor?"
"Take the license number."

Honor Point System Revised by Committee

Members of Social and Standard Committees Recognized

According to recent revisions made in the honor point system, members of the Social and Standards Committees and chairmen of all program committees will receive honor point recognition. The student committee recommending these changes included: Elizabeth Sugden, chairman; Charleva Crichton, Ruth Shular, and Hilda Hisey. The faculty advisors were Dr. Weems, Mrs. Cook and Mr. Chapplear.

Honor points will be ascertained in the future by the Recorder of Points through the assistance of organization presidents rather than from each individual as formerly.

The complete list of officers and memberships receiving honor points for the first time follows: Three points will be given the chairman of the social committee. Recorder of Points, BREEZE Managing Editor, and President of the Sesame Club. Those receiving two honor points are members of the social committee, chairman of the standards committee, assistant conductor of Blue Stone orchestra, head fire chief, chief scribe of Scribblers, BREEZE campus editor, each member of the BREEZE Board of Managers and chairman of the program and social committees of the Sesame Club. Those to whom one honor point will be given are members of the standards committee, assistants to the Recorder of Points, fire chief assistants, and sergeants-at-arms of all classes.

DEBATERS WIN

presidents have been able to obtain extra powers when crisis have made this imperative.

Radford, which has a chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha, a national debating fraternity, holds a state-wide reputation in debating. Preceding the Harrisonburg clash, it had met only one defeat this season.

The judges of the debate were Mr. Grattan Price, of Harrisonburg, and Dr. J. M. Henry and Dr. C. C. Wright, professors at Bridgewater College.

ALUMNAE RETURN

Miss Shirley Miller, Woodstock, president of the Alumnae Association, presided over the meeting. The program included vocal and violin solos by Evelyn Watkins, Norfolk, and Josephine Miller, Woodstock, respectively, who are members of the present student body. The concluding feature of the program was the singing of "Old Virginia" led by Dr. John W. Wayland.

LEMMON GIVES REPORT ON PRESS CONVENTION

Attending the annual convention of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association in New York, March 8-10, Sarah Lemmon, former editor of the BREEZE, and Courtney Dickinson, former business manager, were also successful in seeing many of the city's sights during their visit.

Miss Lemmon was one of the visiting delegates appointed to serve on the staff of the special convention issue of the Spectator, Columbia newspaper. Her assignment was to cover a talk made to the convention by Mark Van Doren on poetry.

Asked for an account of the highlights of the trip, Sarah said:

"The opening session was at Columbia University. From this we went to the sectional group meetings where we had some interesting discussions. Since most of the people were representing high schools, most of the discussion was elementary. We did, however, get some good ideas on the advertising and business side of publication."

"Lou Little told us about the New Year's Day game at the Rosebowl. Friday we were served a convention luncheon at the Hotel Commodore.

"We rode everything on wheels in New York from a double deck Fifth Avenue bus to a subway. We went to Russian bazaar, through the Medical Center, and through House and Garden and Vogue magazine buildings.

"Friday night we went to Radio City. It was marvelous. Saturday night we saw 'All the King's Horses,' which has been running a long time and still draws a full house. It was very clever and humorous.

"It was all so interesting and exciting that we didn't have time to get tired. I enjoyed every minute and everything but best of all I liked the Automat. It was so much fun to drop your money in a little slot marked '3 nickels' and have the door slide open and present you with a sandwich."
